FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1912

Nearly every other republican one meets in Youngstown is a candidate for some county office.

Former President Roosevelt will address the constitutional convention in Columbus Feb. 21. This visit to Ohio is presumed to have nothing to do with politics. He don't want the presidential nomination.

There will be a hot time in the constitutional convention next Tuesday when the liquor question comes up for debate. The wets are determined for license and the dries are just as determined against it.

The contest for the republican nomination for common pleas judge between W. S. Anderson and D. F. Griffith, both of Youngstown, will be one of the most interesting events of the year's campaign. Both are popular and able and will put in their best ticks to win.

SALEM

A strong effort is being made to secure the industrial picnic next June for Cedar Point.

A sled load of young people from this city had an enjoyable time last Friday night at the home of Wm. Shinn in Franklin Square.

Sons of Veterans will celebrate Defender's Day Friday night.

A horse driven by W. W. Burns, who lives west of the city, ran away last Friday and scattered the sleigh along the road in great shape.

George Borros, who abused his wife was bound over to court and not being able to furnish bail was taken to the Lisbon jail.

A largely attended temperance meeting was held Sunday night in the Methodist church.

Quite a company of friends gave Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Evans a surprise party one night last week at their home east of the city, the affair being in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Evans.

Salem and Alliance Socialists debated here Sunday afternoon.

As usual Salem people are so prone to buy stock in everything that promises large returns are interested in the outcome of the litigation of the International Securities Co., whose offices are now located in Indianapolis.

There was considerable complaint regarding the conduct of a bunch of fellows who attended the show at the opera house last Friday night. It is likely if they again appear to annoy they will be taken bodily and fired into the street.

As a result of the recent fire in city hall many changes and improvements are being made.

Thirty members of the Eagles' lodge attended the Episcopal church last Sunday and heard an excellent sermon delivered by Rev. J. H. Haight.

Mrs. Eva Jackson of this city has been granted a divorce from her husband, Hurley Jackson, who is serving in the U. S. navy. She charged neglect and absence for the past five years.

Dick Jones of Sebring says he feels confident that he will be nominated for congress by the republicans of the 18th district. Dick is due for a ride awakening about nomination day.

Harvey, 8-year-old son of Chas. Rogers, died at midnight Sunday of spinal meningitis. Funeral services Tuesday afternoon were conducted by Rev. M. J. Brabie and burial was in Hope cemetery.

A gambling place in the foreign quarter of the city was discovered the other day and the proprietor was assessed $20 and costs and three men who were playing the game paid $5 and costs.

Hiram Hendricks, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hendricks of this city, was before the juvenile court in Lisbon last week. The little fellow is afflicted with St. Vitus dance and the court will send him to a state institution for treatment.

While Ross Justice, 15-year-old son of Arthur Justice, was coasting a hill one day last week his bob sled struck an automobile driven by C. W. Zimmerman and completely turned the machine around. The boy was picked up unconscious and taken home. He is badly cut and bruised, although no bones were broken. That he was not killed is a matter of wonder. The authorities were not disposed to put a stop to the dangerous coasting as they want the young people to enjoy themselves.

W. G. Fawcett, who has long been a dealer in china, etc., in this city, is selling out to engage in manufacturing a patent hat rack.

Geo. Perry threatened his wife last Sunday and was arrested on charge of disorderly conduct. The couple have been separated for some time and when Perry called on his wife Sunday there was trouble. Mayor McKay fined him the limit, $50 and costs, but suspended the fine during good behavior.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound on to the affected parts is superior to any plaster. When troubled with lame back or pain in the side or chest give it a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. Sold by all dealers.

YOUNGSTOWN

Patrick Ryan, former policeman in this city, and now millionaire bridge builder, failed to appear before Justice Coffey in the supreme court for examination as to whether or not he made $2,200,000 in building the Manhattan bridge. Justice Coffey was told that Ryan was ill or had been in a train wreck and is outside of the court's jurisdiction, probably being in Toronto, Canada. The court refused to hear explanations and after declaring Ryan in default for not appearing adjourned the case for a week. The nature of the suit against Ryan is not less sensational than the story of how he outjockeyed the steel trust bridge builders. The plaintiff is Cornelius Sullivan, a relative of "Big Tim" Sullivan has appealed to the court to force Ryan to hand over to him one-half of the net profits made by Ryan in building the Manhattan bridge.

The delinquent tax sale Tuesday at the county auditor's office was not largely attended and not many parcels of land were sold. It is likely that most of the property will be redeemed within a short time.

On Tuesday Vitula Demialo, who killed Wm. Bowden in a saloon Nov. 23, following a quarrel, pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree and was sentenced by Judge Barnum to life imprisonment in the penitentiary. Declaro is only 15 years old and will likely be pardoned after serving a few years.

Council at its meeting Monday night voted to motorize the entire city fire equipment and $70,000 in bonds will be issued to foot the bill. This passing of the fire horse in this city.

A big meeting of the Mahoning County Sunday school association will be held in the First Presbyterian church next Monday night.

The finding of Genardo Gual guilty of murder in the second degree Wednesday, made the third conviction of the kind in this county since last Saturday.

The county commissioners have offered to rent the old court house for city offices for $5,000 a year and give a lease for five years.

W. S. Corey, a P. & L. E. brakeman, had several ribs broken Monday night while coupling cars.

The automobile show is attracting large crowds.

The capital stock of The Strouss-Hirschberg Co. will be increased from $100,000 to $200,000.

Two saloons in the East End were raided Sunday morning at 4 o'clock, and one on East Federal Saturday night. In the latter the "Kitchen House," a big bunch of bums and drunks were arrested and Monday before Judge Herman Brandmiller each drew $5 and costs. But as a general thing now it is no easy matter to get into a saloon on Sunday, but the dry deficit is in a way atoned for by the various private clubs, which have a large membership.

Perhaps in the long run, so far as drinking goes, it is broad as is long Sunday evening Judge D. F. Griffith spoke on "The Juvenile Court and the Delinquent Child" in the First Unitarian church, delivering an interesting and factual address, the address being the first of a series of five to be given there by prominent laymen who are experts along the lines they will consider in the church as was explained Sunday evening by the pastor, Rev. Horace Westwood.

Others yet to speak and their subjects are: A. E. Adams, president of the Dollar Savings & Trust Co., to speak on "The Distribution of Wealth;" Dr. S. M. McCurdy, secretary of the Mahoning County Medical society, to speak on "The City and Its Medical Policy;" Prof. F. C. Doan, of the Meadville Theological seminary, to discuss "What is Socialism?" and Attorney J. D. Wilson to speak on "Industrial Combination."

The big auto exhibition was auspiciously opened Saturday night in the Youngstown auditorium and is one of the best that has been seen anywhere, not only in size but in variety, novelty and the matter of attendance. No one interested in the auto can well afford to miss the exhibition, which is certainly highly creditable to the Youngstown Automobile club.

During the recent and last cold snaps coal thieves of both sexes have been very active here and hereabouts and a number of arrests have been made. John Dator, who with a woman, was caught on a coal car and was armed with a revolver, was fined $50 and given 30 days in the workhouse. Dear coal!

Frank A. Lung, who has been in the livery business here for 26 years and for a time vice president of the Youngstown Transfer Co., has sold his interest in that concern, but says he does not intend to retire permanently from that sort of business. He and his brother, the late Henry Lung, came here in 1879 and were first employed by Landlord Hinkel who then conducted the Tod House.

Sincere regret was expressed here on account of the death in the infirmary at Canfield of Mrs. Eli Arner, aged 86 and recently sent there with her husband who is 87 and was once one of the wealthiest farmers in this section of the state, their farm and home having been in Ellsworth township. Some time ago Mr. Arner had the old couple's benefit and it was the intention to provide them another and more comfortable abode and there was talk the old lady should be removed to the Old Ladies' Home that by the will of Miss Sallie Tod, has received such a large cash bequest. But it appears no one is taken in there unless a certain amount is paid or secured, it not being so much a charity as some good folks had been induced to believe.

Hon. Jack Williams, owner of the Princess theatre, donated the use of the playhouse for the benefit minstrel given by members of the congregation of the Sacred Heart church, pastor Rev. Father Moran. Mr. Williams has also leased the theatre for the balance of the season to Morganstern & Lea, who have taken charge in place of Charles E. Smith, who has retired.

Many in this city who knew the Rev. Jacob H. Kurtz, pastor of the Brethren church of Springfield township, learned with deep regret of his death last Saturday evening after a short illness. He was 75 years of age and the father of Mrs. Silas S. Huffman of 944 West Federal street and brother of Henry Kurtz of the same address. Rev. Kurtz was born in Stark county and went to Springfield when but five years old and had lived in that community ever since and was universally esteemed for his high and sterling character. The funeral was Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock with interment in the church cemetery.

The local musicians, or the members of the Musicians' Protective union, gave a banquet Sunday evening in the Elks' clubrooms and had quite a number of distinguished guests, the total attendance being about 250. The principal speaker was George Bope of Columbus, who made a thoughtful and trenchant speech in which he advocated far less selfishness and far more respect for the rights of others. Others who spoke engagingly during the evening were Dr. W. H. McGranaghan, Dr. W. H. Haden, Wm. F. Maag, Jr., of the Vindicator, Marty Higgins, Sol S. Davis, Joseph W. Wess and Wm. Davis. Delightful harp music was played by John Evans. Harry Dunpaugh was toastmaster.

Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce M. Jewett McGowan is home after being away several months at Saranac for the benefit of his health, which has been greatly improved. He has been afflicted with lung trouble, but it is the happy report he is now completely cured. He never was noted for great ruggedness or obesity, but he is now so changed for the larger physically that his friends refuse to recognize him and declare him a fat imposter. The chances are it will become necessary for him to resort to anifant or lose all his old friends and admirers, or with each approach present a doctor's certificate and identification affidavits.

It is getting in this city so it is almost unsafe for a farmer with a team to enter town. As it is now the street cars and special cars nearly control all the streets. And then there are a lot of ridiculous park rules relating to roads that no farmer can or should be expected to know, but that make him liable to arrest and fine all the same. It is very well to have parks, but it is better to have decent respect for the rights of people who desire to use the public highways. And it is likely if anyone would go to the trouble to test the matter there is a lot of this special privilege law for automobiles and streetcars and the Lord only knows what else that would be pronounced invalid. The man with a team is getting every day more to be more and more an outlaw. After while he may be in luck if he'll be permitted to enter town to get into a livery stable, if indeed a livery stable is permitted to exist.

The following petit jurors for three weeks' service have been drawn with instructions to appear for duty next Monday morning: J. R. Clegg, C. N. Crandall, J. C. Drury, Wm. Montgomery, Benj. Yeardon, Christ Bode, W. J. Hasselman, R. T. Bird, A. J. Boehme, Henry Brown, C. D. Wilson, Youngstown; E. J. Longanecker, Beaver; Shas. Flickinger, Byron Wolf, Benja. Wm. Harding, Harry Delb, Canfield; J. W. Snyder, Jackson, B. P. Baldwin, Milton; E. J. Clark, Homer Saxton, Poland.

The pays last week at the big mills and factories amounted to $723,000, breaking all records.

Republican candidates for county offices are so numerous that one cannot walk a block without meeting from one to a dozen of them.

Can't something be done to hurry along that trolley line from Canfield to this city? With traveling between the two places made easy hundreds of well-to-do city people would lose no time in moving to Canfield to make their home.

Evidence that Youngstown has become a real city is shown in the deaths every year, enough to depopulate a village like Canfield. And, then, to think that Canfield was once larger than Youngstown.

Zero weather, like candidates for county office, has become so common as to be regarded chronic.

Bart Swatted Ball Right. Will Lewis in his "Stories from Court House" in the Youngstown Vindicator, tells the following:

Judge Barnum's anteroom was filled with lawyers, prosperous and aspiring. Each one was waiting for the other fellow to start something in the way of conversation. Finally the lawyer with the extensive embonpoint opined that Clarence Darrow would never be brought to trial out in Los Angeles for his alleged tampering with the McNamara jury.

At the mention of Darrow's name the ex-mayor and owner of the tobacco-chewing hen who was comfortably ensconced in the big leather chair bestirred himself.

"I remember," said Uncle Bart, "when Clarence Darrow pitched and caught for the Youngstown lawyer's base ball team. I remember how Clarence could throw a straight ball swift enough to burn the catcher's glove. One time we were playing the lawyer nine of Warren."

"Tell us about the game Uncle Bart requested his honor as he took a fresh chew."

"Well," continued the prize gardener of Boardman township as he gently stroked his beard, "Lamar Jackson played with us that day and Judge Ezra Taylor was the umpire."

"When we got to Warren I tried to bat out a few to Clarence Darrow in practice, but I could not knock the ball further than the shortstop. Of course the Warren fellows discovered my weakness. We were first at bat. Two of our men struck out and I was next up. When I stepped to the plate the Warren pitcher unkindly said, 'Here comes another victim.' The outfield came in to assist the shortstop. I stepped up to the plate. That pitcher threw me the prettiest ball you ever saw. I swung with all my might and knocked the darn ball away out in the field. Lamar Jackson, who was on the side lines, told the Warren players they had better get on their horses."

"Boys, we made seventeen runs in that inning, due to my great hit," declared Uncle Bart without winking an eye lash.

"How did the game end?" asked Max Brunswick.

"Why, we beat the Warren lawyers by a score of 47 to 13," replied the ex-mayor as he fastened his scarf about his neck."

MARQUIS

Last Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Ensign Shirley of Marquis very pleasantly entertained a sled load of young folks from Cornersburg. The evening was spent in playing games and social chat after which Mrs. Shirley served the following young folks a fine oyster supper: Misses Inez and Blanche Miller, Pearl Hessel, Hazel Oelene, Cella and Minnie Miller, Messrs. Floyd Miller, Christie Wollet, Geo. Bartholomew, Gobert Wollet, Peter Corli, Earl Osborn, Jack McGulter, Archie Slagle, Lloyd Viets.

So many people want their own way that there is less harmony than the politicians intimate.

DANIEL H. HARTZELL DIED LAST SUNDAY MORNING

Dan. H. Hartzell, one of the best known citizens of Stark county, died last Sunday morning at Lakeside hospital, Cleveland. Death was due to pneumonia, which developed from an operation for goitre which was performed upon him at the hospital February 3. The remains were brought to Alliance Sunday evening and taken to his late residence, 108 Rice street, says the Leader.

Daniel H. Hartzell

Mr. Hartzell is survived by his widow, one son, Russell Hartzell of Chicago, and one daughter, Miss Gertrude Hartzell, living at home. He is also survived by one brother, S. L. Hartzell.

The deceased was 59 years of age, and was born in Deerfield, June 27, 1853, being a son of the late Solomon Hartzell, long prominent in the

PA HE PREACHES.

We didn't go no place at all On Sunday cause of cold, But stayed to home and read all day Like Grandma did of old. And Pa he read a chapter first, And Pa he tried to preach— Pa didn't call it preaching though— But good advice to each.

Pa says his horny hands may tell He is a workingman— The noblest calling in the world Since time began with man— That crumpled shirt and jacket too, The men of worth possess. A pauper may be fit for prince A prince for something less.

Pa says the Golden Rule is best, Not by their words prayers, To do to others as you'd have The others do to you:

Pa says God judges men by deeds, Not by their wordy prayers, And that he notes the sparrows fall And numbers all our hairs.

Pa says God guides our feet aright Along the narrow way, If we but put our trust in him And his commands obey.

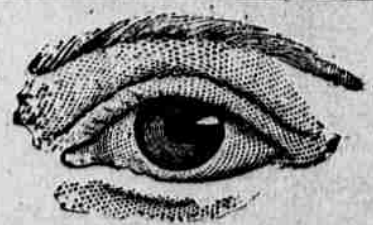

That in the end, the pearly gates Will on their hinges swing And let us enter Paradise To hear the angels sing.

Then Pete he nudged Ma as he said "Geel! ain't Pa getting next; I wonder why when he began He didn't take a text."

Pa stroked the cat he often kicked Pa then to the cupboard went Pulled off his boots and trimmed his corns

He bathed with liniment— Stanley in Alliance Review.

A Useful Citizen. Jinks—Does this fellow Boggs amount to anything? Binks—I should say so. He gives employment to a dozen bill collectors. Jinks—I didn't know he was in business. Binks—He ain't. He owes everybody—Enquirer.

The Main Reason

The Rebmans method of eye examination is absolutely original. It is not "just like" or "just as good" as the usual eye examination you generally get. The Rebmans examination stands alone distinctly different. It is an evolution from the crude methods taught years ago and developed by me from the experience gained in twenty-two years practice on over one hundred thousand eyes. It is only by comparison that we can judge the quality. That is the reason I prefer people who have tried other systems and failed to obtain results. My reputation is worth more to me than money—when you realize that money will not buy health or eyesight, and if you have the best service, I will be pleased to consult with you.
